RE: SOLID Infinity Gym testimonial

To whom it concerns,

We have fitted the SOLID Infinity Gym System into our new state of the art and innovative health club at 567 Collins Street in Melbourne, Australia.

With our brand and a high volume of corporate members, we have to make sure the fit out and equipment we provide is of the highest quality, widest range and is efficient from a space utilization perspective to avoid congestion at peak times

The SOLID Infinity Gym System has allowed us to create what was originally going to be a 12 metre corridor in to an excellent functional training zone. The wall, storage racks and training equipment all look superb and opens up floor space with no cumbersome and ugly uprights. We liked the fact that the panels allow us to place our corporate colours behind them, while the design and 'look and feel' of the clip on pieces is in keeping with the message of innovation and quality across our whole health club. The design, delivery and installation process was smooth and seamed nicely into the fit out project.

With the system being so new and innovative we were unsure how popular it would be with our fitness professionals and new members, but they all love it - after 3 months of operation it has become one of the most popular areas of the gym floor.

What I like the most about it, is that it gives every individual user the total freedom to personalise the wall and workout exactly how he or she wants it at any given time and it also gives club management the flexibility to add, remove and change storage and exercise equipment configuration as the needs and usage trends of our members change over time – as they always do.

We are very pleased with the SOLID Infinity Gym System at Collins Street and will definitely be considering it as part of our fitness equipment product in future projects.
